KNOW HER MORE

Determined to live life with compassion and empathy, Neha Mishra started her own "Neha Talks" into personal coaching, learning and development. And in 2019, she also became business partners with Epinomi Consulting.

Her diverse experience of working within leadership wings of organizations for 13 years opened a new world of exploration about how every action and their results are driven by the 'human mind'.

This Interesting behavioral pattern intrigued her to contribute to people's personal growth by cultivating a desire in them to learn major life skills through customized individual and group training, practical working sessions and companionship

Today, she has been successfully training and coaching individuals and organizations to sustain their peak personal or professional performance with ease, grace and compassion.

She is passionate about facilitating transformative participant experiences where they feel accomplished, confident and proud of their achievements; where they acknowledge their fears and are committed to overcome them by being compassionate towards self and surroundings.

She also curates creative workshops, panel discussions, seminars and key note address for institutions, organizations and group of individuals
